McGruff Houses offer safe haven for Presidio children

By Eric Tyler
McGruff House Coordinator for
Presidio of Monterey and POM Annex

What is a child to do if an older boy bullies him on the way to school, if she's scared of an unleashed dog, if he sees an accident, or if a stranger follows her in a car?

One answer is to look around for a house that displays a sign with a figure that children know and trust – McGruff – and go to the house to ask for help.

A McGruff house is a temporary haven for children who find themselves in an emergency of frightening situation such as being bullied, followed, or hurt while walking in a neighborhood.

Individuals who volunteer their homes as McGruff houses agree to make emergency phone calls for children in trouble and watch out for neighborhood children as they go to and from school.

Children on the Presidio of Monterey and Presidio of Monterey Annex now have McGruff houses to turn to under a program sponsored by the Mayoral Program.

What makes a McGruff house different from other block parent programs?

Children recognize the McGruff house. One study has shown that 99 percent of children recognize McGruff because they've seen him on television or he has visited their school.

The McGruff program has built in safe guards to help ensure children's safety.

A strict system is used to choose participants. Adults who volunteer their houses agree to a criminal history background check. In addition, the distribution of McGruff house signs is strictly controlled.

McGruff house is locally operated. It is a partnership of local law enforcement, school or school system, and community organization joined together for the well-being of children.

For more information, call the McGruff House coordinator for the Presidio of Monterey and POM Annex at 393-0810.

From the desk of the Garrison Commander

Garrison commander provides feedback of Town Hall meeting

Hello!

I would like to talk about the safety measures that we initiated as a result of the feedback from the last Town Hall meeting. Garrison Sergeant Major Master Sgt. M. W. Nicholson and I visited the Marshall Park Housing Area and also found Malmedy and Normandy roads to be in need of some additional traffic control measures as recommended by the residents. Federal Chief of Police Alex Kerekes made a survey of the critical roads and will install 10 speed bumps, four speed bump warning signs and four additional stop signs on Malmedy and Normandy roads. All of us want to ensure that our housing areas are safe for our families and our children!

Safety is important in all facets of our lives. Labor Day weekend is right around the corner. It is traditionally a time of gathering for family and friends to celebrate the end of summer with sporting activities and barbecues.

Very often that includes the consumption of alcoholic beverages. If you are underage, don't do it; good chance you will be caught and a beer is not worth the price. You will have a lot of time in life to drink a beer; it's really not a big deal. And if you are of age, be safe. Think and plan first because once you choose to start drinking, you forfeit your ability to think clearly. Be safe for your loved ones and be safe for our country; you are our most precious resource!

Thanks for listening.

Tips offer advice on dealing with skunks

By Alexander Kerekes
Chief of Police, Presidio of Monterey

The striped skunk is about the size of an adult house cat. Its fur is mostly black with some white on its head and neck. With most striped skunks, the white extends down the back and across the tail; however, it does not necessarily have to have the white stripe. It can also be totally black. The spotted skunk is about half the size of a mature house cat, and as the name implies, it is black with white spots.

Skunks are omnivorous, eating anything from acorns to small rodents. Searching for food in soil, they are known to uproot gardens and lawns. They are nocturnal and leave their burrow homes just after sunset to search for food. They usually return by sunrise. Skunks breed once a year. They nest underground in dens, hollow logs, or caves but also find under homes, sheds and hot tubs an acceptable substitute. An average of five young per female skunk are born in late April or early May. They are weaned in about six weeks.

To discourage skunks from romping around your property, try these tips:

- ❑ A 3-foot high wire mesh fence, extended six inches beneath the ground surface, will keep skunks from digging under a fence. Spotted skunks may scale this fence once in a while, but this type of activity is rare. To deter these climbing, agile skunks, erect the fence at an angle.

- ❑ It is important to check your property regularly to insure that screens, barring entrance into your home or basement, are in tact. Close openings around decks, hot tubs, sheds and stairs. Skunks are great rodent predators

Instructors with military family experience needed

Individuals with experience as military family members may now learn to be Armed Forces Team Building instructors and share their experience with others.

The training class is scheduled for Sept. 7, 9 and 10, 8:30 a.m.-3 p.m. at Army Community Service. Free childcare is available; reservations are required. Call 242-7510 or 242-7660 for more information.

Increasing effectiveness seminar begins Sept. 15

Army Community Service is presenting a seminar on "Increasing Human Effectiveness" Sept. 15-17, 8 a.m.-12:30 p.m. Child care is available.

The Edge Learning Institute seminar is specifically designed as an exciting experience in personal, as well as professional growth and effectiveness. The program is taught in a relaxed lecture/discussion format, and the primary objective is to provide members with tools that will enable them to tap into the vast storehouse of potential existing within you.

Most are already effective people in some areas of their lives; however, there may be other areas that they feel could stand improvement. The ELI approach is one of balancing participants' lives through "the total person concept."

For more information call Army Community Service at 242-7660.

Golf tournament event scheduled for Sept. 22

The United Veterans Council of Monterey County Golf Tournament is scheduled for Sept. 22, noon-4:30 p.m. at the Rancho Canada Golf Club.

The four-person scramble will be followed by a silent auction at 5:30 p.m., dinner at 6 p.m., and an awards ceremony and live auction at 7 p.m.

The purpose of the event is to raise money to purchase a new van for disabled and needy veterans who need transportation to Veterans Administration hospitals.

For details, call Efren Techaira at 883-4711.

Charity adult spelling bee set for Sept. 23

Are you a good speller with a fairly large vocabulary? Join a Defense Language Institute Foreign Language Center and Presidio of Monterey team in the Adult Spelling Bee, Sept. 23, 6-9 p.m. in Modesto.

The four-person team entry fee of $300, or $75 each, is a charitable tax deduction and raises money to support children's programs, literacy, and enhanced access to technology at various library sites.

Active duty military members, Reservists, civilian employees, and family members are welcome. Spellers may use this competition as a warm-up for the Pacific Grove Library's Adult Spelling Bee in March.

Individuals may also sponsor the team by donation. If interested contact Dave Riddle at 242-6383 or e-mail to riddled@pom-emh1.army.mil.

Self-Defense Workshop set for Sept. 25

A free self-defense workshop is scheduled for Sept. 25, 10 a.m.-2 p.m. at the Martial Arts Room of Porter Youth Center.

The workshop will be presented by Master Robert Ingersoll and hosted by the Mayoral Program. This free workshop is open to military, family members and Department of Defense civilians.

Space is limited; reservations are required. To reserve your space, call 242-5056 and leave a voice mail message.

Free childcare available for volunteers

Free childcare is available for individuals who volunteer for Armed Forces Team Building. The program needs volunteers for the following areas: Instructors, Newsletter, Marketing, Phone Calls, Administrative Assistant and Assistant Coordinator.

Call 242-7510 for more information on volunteer positions.

Post-wide yard sale set for Sept. 11, registration continues Wednesday

The next post-wide yard sale is scheduled for Sept. 11, 10 a.m.-1 p.m. in the parking area off 8th Avenue and Joe Lloyd Way across from Self Help/Lawn Care Center.

Organizers will conduct registration at the Mayoral Program Office located in Stilwell Community Center, Presidio of Monterey Annex. Individuals must register in person for the yard sale and only during the following two remaining periods: Wednesday, 6-7:30 p.m.; and Sept. 10, 5-7 p.m.

Fees are $5 for active duty and family members residing on POM Annex and $10 for all others including active duty military members residing off post, retirees, and general public. There are 186 spaces available on a first-come, first serve basis.

To attend the yard sale, after entering the main gate, proceed straight to North-South Road and make a right. Take North-South Road to the intersection of Gigling Road, make a left. Proceed on Gigling Road to 8th Avenue, make a left. Continue on 8th Avenue to the first right, which will be Joe Lloyd Way. Signs will mark the route.

Call the Mayoral Program for details or to volunteer at 242-5056.

Command Safety office sponsors motorcycle course

The Command Safety office sponsors an Experienced Rider Motorcycle Safety Course, in accordance with Army Regulation 385-55, at no cost for all military personnel, government civilians and family members.

The course is conducted the first Saturday of each month. If the first Saturday falls on holiday weekend, the course is conducted the following Saturday. Individuals who have attended a motorcycle course at another installation and have proof of course completion are not required to attend this course.

The Experienced Rider Course does not meet the state of California's requirements for obtaining a motorcycle license or an endorsement on the license of riders under age 21.

Motorcycle riders who do not have a motorcycle license or endorsement must attend the California Motorcycle Safety Program, the basic program, sponsored by the California Highway Patrol. Payment and successful completion of this program qualifies the rider for a motorcycle license.

For more information or to sign up for the Experienced Riders Course, call the Command Safety office at 242-6509.

and often follow mice and rats into these kinds of areas.

❑ Place ammonia stations around your yard wherever the skunks frequent. To do this, take a shallow dish or bowl, place a rag in it and pour ammonia over the rag until completely saturated. Place enough ammonia in the dish so the rag will continue to wick it up throughout the night. Avoid lawn areas, as the ammonia will burn the lawn. Animals find the odor of ammonia irritating just as we do.

❑ If you have a skunk who has established itself under your home, first find all the entrances and exits. Block all of them off except one. Place a radio near where the animal is nesting and keep it on loud during the day. Place ammonia stations near the same spot. If the nesting area is not accessible, try placing the ammonia stations at each of the air vents in the foundation.

IMPORTANT: If you have a female with babies, be sure to give her extra time to relocate her entire family before you seal up the entrance. If the parent is gone but you are unsure if the young are out, you may want to crawl under the house to be sure.

❑ Skunks often dig for grubs and worms in your lawn and garden. A gardener or nursery can advise you about a treatment to prevent grubs. Placing piles of cayenne pepper in the spot the skunks dig may discourage them. Using a wild animal repellent, available at most hardware stores, may also be effective.

❑ Pick up all of your outdoor pet's food dishes before it gets dark. Replace them with an ammonia station. Lock pet doors to keep skunks from entering your garage or home; and place an ammonia station in front of the locked door.

❑ If you or one of your animals is sprayed by a skunk skunk odor removers are available at most pet supply shops.

Congress forges ahead with fiscal 2000 National Defense Authorization Bill

WASHINGTON — Pending a final floor vote, House and Senate conferees reached agreement on the National Defense Authorization Bill for fiscal 2000.

A final vote on the bill, which authorizes funding for the Department of Defense, is expected after Congress returns from recess in September.

Once the authorization bill is approved, the next step is the appropriations bill that approves an actual budget to carry out the authorizations.

Significant items that will go to a vote in the House and Senate include:

- ❑ A 4.8-percent across-the-board pay raise for military members in January and a one time reform of the military pay tables effective July 1.

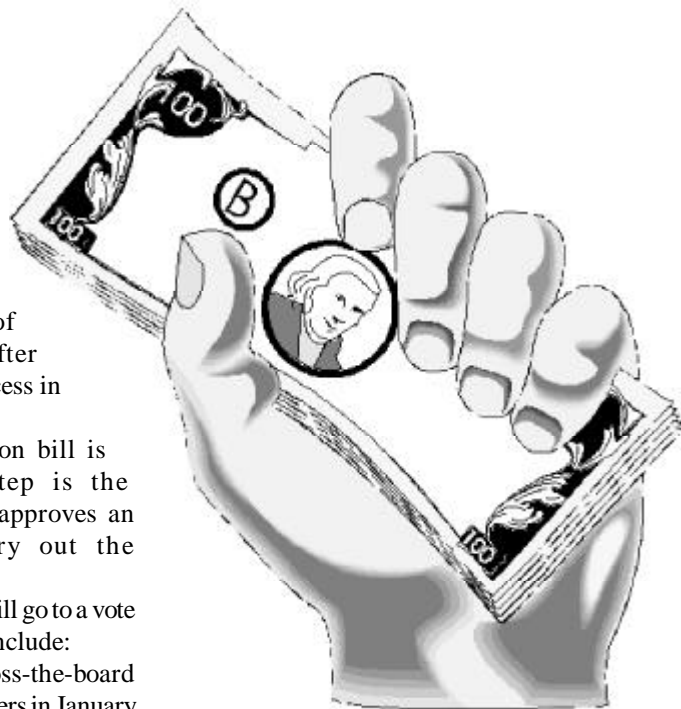

- ❑ Setting annual military pay raises at one-half percent above the annual increases in the Employment Cost Index for fiscal 2001 through 2006.

This is significant because it will help narrow the gap that exists between private sector wage growth and military pay that is currently estimated at 13.5 percent.

- ❑ Adding $225 million to accelerate the transition to basic allowance for housing. This would reduce out-of-pocket expenses for military members living in high cost areas.

- ❑ Retirement pay reform giving military members the option to choose between retiring under the pre-1986 retirement plan at 2.5 percent of basic pay per year of service over 20 years (up to a maximum of 75 percent) or remaining under the Redux retirement system and receiving a $30,000 bonus.

- ❑ Expanding the authority to pay aviation continuation pay, the pilot bonus given to aviation officers in grades below O-7 through their 25th year of service. The provision also extends the $25,000 maximum annual amount of the bonus to all contracts, regardless of length.

- ❑ $1.5 billion in increased funding for military readiness; the Air Force portion of this increase is $648.2 million.

- ❑ $8.49 billion for military construction and family housing; including $380 million for the construction of 2,100 family housing units, more than $800 million for the construction of bachelor enlisted quarters and more than $650 million for vital military construction projects for the Reserve.

- ❑ Enhanced TRICARE dental benefit for retirees and an expanded dental program for family members and Reservists.

- ❑ A requirement for the Department of Defense to provide funeral honor details, with a minimum of two uniformed military members, one of which must represent the service of the deceased veteran, for honorably discharged veterans.

The bill also authorizes several increases for Air Force procurement, including $1.6 billion for the F-22 Raptor, $54 million for an additional 12 Joint Primary Air Training System aircraft, $20 million for additional Predator unmanned aerial vehicles and multiple modifications for F-15 and F-16 fighters.

Additionally, the conference committee approved several increases for Air Force research and development, including $112.3 million for B-2 bomber upgrades; $30 million for alternate engine development for the Joint Strike Fighter; $15.4 for B-52 radar upgrades and an increase of $40 million for the Minuteman III Guidance Replacement Program.

"This year, House and Senate conferees confronted especially difficult challenges affecting our nation's security," said Virginia Sen. John Warner, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee. "Our armed forces are faced with a measurable decline in readiness, troublesome recruitment and retention problems, aging equipment, and newly emerging threats on the horizon.

"Our forces, while performing with great distinction in the recent conflict in Kosovo and in numerous other deployments around the world are simply over stretched," he continued. "They are beginning to show the strains that come from overuse.

"The resources authorized in this bill will allow us to begin rebuilding and modernizing our military forces while improving the quality of life for our service men and women and their families," the senator added. (Courtesy of American Forces Press Service)

Armed Forces Retirement Home

Army retirees are leading the way in support to the Armed Forces Retirement Home. More than 2,100 Army retirees have set up allotments from their retired pay to support the AFRH which includes the U.S. Soldiers' and Airmen's Home in Washington, D.C., and the U.S. Naval Home in Gulfport, Miss. The next highest number of retiree contributors came from the Air Force with 348 making allotments. Voluntary retiree allotments have brought $116,500 to the AFRH, with 80 percent coming from the Army.

The AFRH are the only veterans' homes run by the federal government. They are open to retirees age 60 and older with 20 or more years of active duty service; or veterans unable to earn a livelihood due to a service-connected disability; or veterans who served in a war theater or received hostile fire pay and are unable to earn a livelihood due to a non-service-connected disability; or female veterans who served before 1948. Almost 1,600 veterans live in the Homes; 93 percent are military retirees and 97 percent are combat veterans.

The Homes are looking to retirees because downsizing has resulted in a decrease in active duty support. Since 1990, active duty funding from 50 cents a month's pay withholding and fines and forfeitures has dropped 39.1 percent, about $142 million.

Anyone wishing to support the Homes or find more about the Homes can write to: Armed Forces Retirement Home; 3700 N. Capitol St.; Washington, DC 20317, call Kerri Childress at 1-800-422-9988 or (202) 722-3556, or visit their website at www.AFRH.com.

Air Force Spouse tuition assistance

The Air Force Aid Society recently announced plans to fund the Gen. George S. Brown Spouse Tuition Assistance Program for the 1999-2000 school year. The purpose of STAP is to provide partial tuition assistance for high school or college programs to spouses of active-duty airmen or officers assigned to an overseas location.

The focus of the program is for completion of a degree or certificate that will provide increased job opportunities for spouses. STAP provides tuition assistance at a rate not to exceed 50 percent of unmet tuition charges per course, at a maximum of $1,500 per academic year. The growing program spent more than $1.3 million last year for more than 3,500 individual participants. Funding for 1999-2000 is set at $1.7 million.

Contact your education office or family support center for more information and application procedures, or visit the society's STAP Web site at www.afas.org/stap.htm. (Courtesy of Air Force News Service)

DOD seeks to create, increase special pays, incentives programs

By Jim Garamone
American Forces Press Service

WASHINGTON – The Department of Defense is working with Congress to create three new special pays and to beef up others, DOD officials said.

The services use special pays and incentives to retain members in critical military specialties. Special pays are even older than the Republic – the first was a Continental Army enlistment bonus offered in 1776. It was an extra $6 per month.

If Congress agrees, DOD will offer three new special pays in fiscal 2000: career enlisted flier incentive pay, special warfare officer pay and surface warfare officer pay. The whole package is a part of the fiscal 2000 Defense Authorization Bill.

The career enlisted flier incentive pay is aimed at retention in all the services. Those who qualify would receive the pay as long as their operational flying duty requirements are met. The proposed pay ceiling is $400 per month.

Special warfare officers' special pay would be limited to Navy SEALs. Officers would receive up to $80,000 if they stay as Navy SEALs through their 14th year of commissioned service. The special pay for surface warfare officers if accepted would allow lump-sum bonuses of up to $50,000 to officers who agree to complete their full tours of duty.

One proposed change in current special pays is an increase in the selective re-enlistment bonus. The ceiling would rise to $60,000 from the current $45,000. Few service members receive the maximum, DOD officials said, but the Navy, seeking to retain nuclear-trained sailors, came close to the $45,000 ceiling. Another change would let DOD pay service members their selective re-enlistment bonuses after 17 months of service rather than the current 21 months.

Other proposals include:

❑ An increase in foreign language proficiency pays ceiling from $100 per month to $300 per month.

❑ An increase in the enlistment bonus ceiling from $12,000 to $20,000.

❑ An increase in special pay and bonuses for nuclear-qualified officers. These officers now receive a $10,000 accession bonus. When their active duty commitment ends, they can receive a $12,000 bonus if they agree to serve an additional year. Those who agree to a multiyear contract receive $15,000 per year. The Navy seeks to raise the ceiling for each by $10,000.

❑ A $40 monthly increase for divers – to $340 for enlisted divers and $240 for officers.

The proposals would allow the services to target special pays to achieve narrow, precise recruiting and retention goals, according to DOD officials. In conjunction with proposed pay raises and military retirement reform, officials expect these proposals to improve DOD's ability to attract and retain the best people.

Training will clarify 'don't ask, don't tell, don't pursue' policy on homosexuals

By Jim Garamone
American Forces Press Service

WASHINGTON — All service members will undergo training that will clarify DOD's "don't ask, don't tell, don't pursue" policy on homosexuals in the military, DOD officials said Aug. 13.

The policy — promulgated in 1994 — allowed homosexuals to stay in the services so long as they did not discuss their sexual orientation.

Conversely, supervisors are not to ask subordinates about their sexual orientation.

No major changes to the policy are contemplated, said DOD officials. The clarification was based on recommendations sent to Rudy de Leon, undersecretary of defense for personnel and readiness, by a DOD working group in April 1998.

The group's recommendations have received more prominence due to the death July 5 of Army Pfc. Barry Winchell at Fort Campbell, Ky. Winchell was beaten to death with a baseball bat allegedly because he was gay. An Article 32 hearing is under way at the post deciding whether to charge Pvt. Calvin Glover with murder.

Pentagon officials want all harassment to stop. Under the new guidelines, recruits will receive training explaining harassment of any service member is unacceptable.

"The bottom line is to treat all others with respect and dignity," said DOD spokesperson Army Lt. Col. Catherine Abbott.

De Leon signed two memos dealing with the homosexual conduct policy.

One requires that DOD guidance on the homosexual policy be "effectively disseminated to all levels of command" and be made part of training programs for law enforcement personnel, commanders and supervisors.

The memo requires the instruction to be incorporated into recruit training and for service members to attend refresher training thereafter.

The other memo seeks to institute consistent and fair application of the policy. It recommends installation staff judge advocates consult with senior legal officers prior to the initiation of an investigation into alleged homosexual conduct.

If commanders wish to initiate an investigation into whether a service member made a statement regarding homosexuality just to get out of serving in the military, it must be approved at the military department level.

Finally, the memo tasks service inspectors general to specifically check on the training of commanders, attorneys and investigators, who are charged with application of the homosexual policy.

Defense Secretary William Cohen said most commanders understand the policy and institute it fairly.

"The department is determined to implement the homosexual conduct policy with fairness to all concerned," Cohen said in a written statement. "I've made it clear there is no room for harassment or threats in the military. I've instructed the military services to make sure that the policy is clearly understood and fairly enforced."

In 1998, DOD discharged 1,145 service members under the policy. Most of those were discharged because the individuals came forward.

What's up, DOC?

Directorate of Contracting warns: Don't put your paycheck on the line

Government personnel and employees need to be aware that only authorized individuals may issue instructions to or request services from government contractors. When individuals request services or direct contractors, and they are not authorized to do so, they may risk personal liability.

For example, building custodians and facility managers for non-family housing at the Presidio of Monterey and POM Annex should use the following procedures to report problems with heating, ventilation, air conditioning; hot water; or distribution systems.

During regular duty hours, 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., trouble calls will be made only to the Presidio Public Works Agency trouble desk at 242-5526.

After regular duty hours, 4:30 p.m. to 7:30 a.m., problems should reported only to the staff duty NCO, at 242-5119. The staff duty NCO will notify the responsible agency or contractor.

When reporting problems, the caller must provide the affected building number, room number, an on-site point of contact, telephone number, and the nature of the problem to the trouble desk or staff duty NCO. Individuals should not contact the contractor directly. Remember the contractor may require an escort to enter dormitories or NCO apartment units.

If you have any questions, contact Nancy Bennett, contract specialist, at 242-6579, or Penny Sinclair, director of Contracting, 242-6605.

The Monterey Institute of International Studies offers the Master of Arts in Teaching Foreign Languages program for all qualified Defense Language Institute Foreign Language Center faculty and military language instructors. DLIFLC will pay all tuition costs, $780 per credit, except for the one-time application fee to enter the MA program. Classes are held on Monday through Thursday; beginning at 4 p.m. Participants will be given time to attend these sessions.

The fall 99 orientation on the MIIS campus will be held Wednesday through Sept. 3. New students are urged to attend noon lunch and program meeting with the MATFL instructors Wednesday. Call Jean Turner at MIIS, 647-3522 or visit the POM Education Center, for details.

Naval Academy, Preparatory School

The U.S. Naval Academy Preparatory School in Newport, Rhode Island accepts qualified applicants from regular and Reserve components of the Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, and civilian personnel who were not selected for direct appointment to the Naval Academy. The United States Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md., is the academic training ground for future naval officers. Each year the Secretary of the Navy may appoint 170 regular Navy and Marine Corps enlisted personnel to attend.

For more information, visit the Education Center or call 242-5325.

Air Force Academy

The Air Force Academy offers a four-year program to selected high school graduates. Entry is very competitive, and consideration based on the individuals high school academic record, extracurricular activity, military performance, and the results of academy examinations. The Air Force Academy Prep School gives eligible Air Force enlisted men and women and selected applicants who were not offered Academy appointments the opportunity to improve their selection potential. Only 50 airmen a year are selected to attend, but upon completion, these airmen will be considered for an appointment to the Academy where they can graduate as Air Force officers. Stop by the Education Center for more information.

Explanation of classified ad policy

The following information is provided to explain and clarify policy for individuals who would like to publish classified ads in POM-Mart.

Military members, retirees and Department of Defense civilian employees with valid identification cards are authorized to place classified ads in the Community News.

To place an ad in the Community News, complete the form on the back page of the Community News and deliver it to the Public Affairs Office, Building 614, Room 142, Presidio of Monterey, 93944. Ads may also be sent via e-mail to the editor at wright@pom-emh1.army.mil. Individuals should be sure to include all information requested on the form, including the category of the ad.

Daytime work telephone numbers are for use by Community News staff only; they will not be listed in ads. Individuals may place up to three ads in different categories per issue. Each ad should not exceed 35 words; itemized property for sale should be valued at least $10.

The Community News staff will make every effort to publish ads accurately, but we reserve the right to edit ads to meet readability, format and space requirements. Report typographical errors to the editor, and they will be corrected in the next available issue.

Acceptable classified ads include items in the categories of Autos; Motorcycles; Trucks, Vans, Sport, RVs; Wanted; Sports Equipment; Entertainment, Music Items; Computers and Accessories; Lost and Found; Miscellaneous; Pets or Household Items. Items must be for one-time sale or for free – not for a profit-sharing venture of multiple items. The Community News does not take responsibility for items advertised.

Classified ads for businesses, rentals, free information, help for hire or tutoring, or illegal items are not authorized. Each ad will be published in three consecutive issues unless it is renewed or cancelled.

The date the ad was first published is printed in parentheses following each ad. For example, ads dated (07-30) will continue to run through the Aug. 27 issue. Classified ads may be renewed or cancelled by phone; however, new ads, additions or major changes to ads must be done in writing before the Wednesday deadline for the next issue. Deadlines are generally a week and a half prior to the next publication. When calling in reference to an ad, be sure to identify the category, first few words of the ad, phone number as printed and the date following the ad.

Deadline for the Sept. 10 issue is Wednesday; deadline for the Sept. 24 issue is Sept. 15.

Please refer questions concerning this policy to the editor of the Community News at the Public Affairs Office, at 242-5104 or 242-6426.
